NAZIS SMASH AHEAD IN NORTH STALINGRAD

Battle for Control of Southwest Pacific Rages Faster

Reds With Backs To Volga Making Desperate Stand

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

Adolf Hitler's siege armies, suddenly renewing the fury of their 53-day-old assault on Stalingrad, reported today they had broken through to the Volga in a violent night attack, occupied half the city and captured the big Dzerzhinsky tractor factory in the northwest section.

Once again, a grave crisis appeared developing in the struggle for the ruined Volga metropolis as the Russians acknowledged that German tanks and infantry had knifed dangerously into Soviet defense lines.

Nevertheless, German military quarters admitted that the Red army was "continuing to fight as if nothing had happened."

These quarters also reported that the Russians were launching relief attacks to ease the German pressure on two great factories, Red October and Red Barricade, which were described as cut off but not yet taken.

Nazi troops, perhaps 30,000 strong, led by 100 tanks and supported by 500 planes, were reported spearheading the attack. Soviet dispatches conceded that the Red army defenders were now fighting with their backs perilously close to the Volga after retreating to new positions under cover of darkness before dawn today.

At noon, the Russian command said the Germans had seized several streets and indicated that Soviet troops had little room left for maneuvering in one section of the west bank of the Volga.

"The coming winter makes the Germans hurry," said Red Star. "The vile enemy aims to capture the city at any cost."

Hundreds of German corpses littered the streets and more than 25 Nazi tanks were smashed as the Russians beat off seven attacks in the city yesterday, the Soviet command said, but despite their losses the invaders pressed. (Turn to Page Eleven)

RAF Armada Is Again Sent Over Cologne

London, Oct. 16.—(P)—Britain's biggest bombs fell in crushing weight on Cologne last night from a raiding force of hundreds of great four-engine bombers of the RAF virtually had ignored the blackened Rhinecland city in the four and a half months since it was made the target of history's first thousand-plane raid.

The industrial Rhinecland—Germany's "bomb alley"—was the general target of the assault, probably one of the largest against the Nazi homeland in weeks.

Cologne apparently was the focus of the assault which, the German radio said, hit widely scattered centers.

The British reported losing 18 planes in the night attack and the Germans put British losses at 22 as indicated by the losses perhaps 360 to 400 planes took part in the raid.

"Block busters"—the RAF's devastating two-ton bombs—were dropped on carefully selected targets in the whole area and some of the biggest were saved for Cologne, attacked for the 110th recorded time and the first since a great area of it was pulverized by an air force of 1,130 planes on the night of May 30.

Great Britain meanwhile had a quiet night except for a southeast coast town which was visited by two German raiders early today.

WILLKIE-ROOSEVELT TALK SATISFACTORY

Washington, Oct. 16.—(P)—President Roosevelt said today he had had an exceedingly successful and interesting talk Wednesday with Wendell L. Willkie, but he would not go into details because, he explained, he could not disclose military secrets.

That was all he could say, he told a press conference in answer to a question asking whether, as a result of the report given him by Willkie, he anticipated "any changes in our military strategy."

He remarked, in addition, that he was afraid no controversy could be worked up about anything. Willkie has persistently called for opening up a second front.

FINAL ACTION ON SERVICE BILL IS NEAR

Legislation Assures High School and College Students Deferment to Complete Academic Year

MAY VOTE TOMORROW

BY WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Washington, Oct. 16.—(P)—The senate military committee recommended the drafting of 18- and 19-year-olds today shortly after the house arranged for final action tomorrow on similar legislation.

Rumblings of displeasure arose on the house side of the capitol over a school deferment amendment in the bill before it and the lack of assurance of a full 12 months' training for the youthful selectees.

The objections were aired at a rules committee hearing on house procedure on the bill, which administration leaders said they expected would be passed swiftly, as one answer of a democracy to totalitarian threats.

The legislation, on which the house is to vote tomorrow, for which two hours of debate were allotted, also has provisions designed to prevent married men from being inducted ahead of single men.

This action came after the military committee formally reported that standards set up by the country's military experts "require that our army be fired with the enthusiasm and resilience of spirit found predominantly in young men. It is American youth which can provide the virility and the strength upon which our effort must depend."

Driving ahead with a similar bill, the senate military committee neared an end of hearings and indications of a final vote early next week.

As approved by the house committee, the legislation assured high school and college students of deferment long enough to complete their current academic year, provided it does not run beyond June 30, 1943, and revised the set. (Turn to Page Six)

EMPEROR WORSHIPS

Tokyo, (From Japanese Broadcasts) Oct. 16.—(P)—Emperor Hirohito worshipped at the innermost sanctuary of the Yasukuni shrine today to seek "peaceful repose of 15,021 newly deified war heroes," Domei said. The shrine today was opened to the families of the dead. These events were highlights of a six-day autumn festival.

15,000,000 Pounds Gathered By Pupils

Harrisburg, Oct. 16.—(P)—Collecting scrap is child's play for Pennsylvania youngsters and the profit is the pile of more than 15,000,000 pounds they've rounded up to date.

The state salvage headquarters today cited the following accomplishments as more than 2,000,000 private, public and parochial school children prepared to enter the final week of their drive:

A Huntingdon boy brought in 500 pounds of discarded plow points and a Pottstown girl contributed 1,000 keys.

Wilkes-Barre pupils were told to search their homes and a girl in one of the grade schools was forced to ask the salvage committee's help in moving her own contribution—two tons.

Collections in the state-wide universal salvage drive, in which the school children are participating, totaled 158,858 tons today with 37 counties reporting.

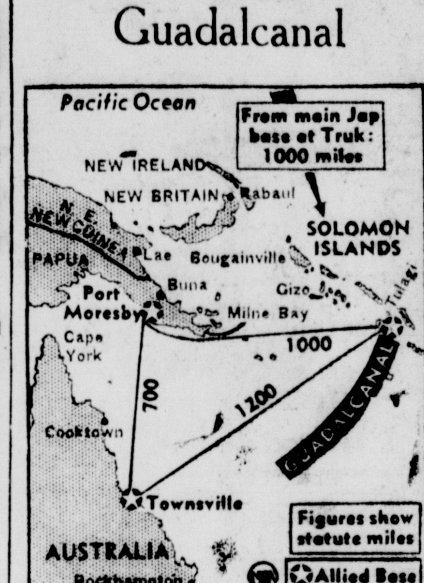

WAR BULLETINS

London, Oct. 16.—(P)—British troops, continuing their occupation of Madagascar, yesterday captured Ambositra, 142 miles south of Tananarive, the island capital, an army communique announced today.

Bern, Oct. 16.—(P)—A Swiss Telegraph Agency dispatch from Bucharest reported today that General Foresee, mayor of Bucharest, killed himself last night. No details were given.

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Australia, Oct. 16.—(P)—Allied forces driving toward the Japanese base at Kokoda, New Guinea, are maintaining strong pressure upon the enemy in the Templetons Crossing area on the northern side of the Owen Stanley range, warfront dispatches said today.

Guadalcanal, scene of continued fighting in the southern Solomon Islands, has been a major battlefield ever since U. S. forces landed there August 7. Off its shores many American and Jap warships have been sunk in big naval engagements. Amid its mountains, jungles and coconut plantations U. S. Marines have held a key air base and fought off Jap attempts to regain control of the island.

Kidnaped Tot Found Safe In Oregon Town

California Officials Hold Portland Couple On Abduction Charge

CHILD IS UNHARMED

Red Bluff, Calif., Oct. 16.—(P)—Brown-eyed little Vivian Miller waited patiently in Grants Pass, Ore., for her "real daddy" today as police at Red Bluff, Calif., held a man and his wife who confessed they kidnaped the four-year-old girl.

The man was quoted as saying he had always wanted a child of his own.

Vivian was found unharmed in a Grants Pass school yesterday. Almost simultaneously—though it did not become known for some time—Mr. and Mrs. Beaumont E. Du Bois of Portland, Ore., were arrested near here for questioning.

Several hours later Du Bois, in the presence of his wife and three officials, dictated a brief statement confessing the kidnaping, said Sheriff James N. Froome. Both he and his wife signed it.

In San Francisco, Mrs. Louise Miller, the child's mother, cried for joy when informed that Vivian had been found safe. Later she talked by telephone with Vivian.

Miller accompanied two San Francisco police inspectors here today and came face to face with Du Bois in the sheriff's office.

The two inspectors, Marvin E. Donnell and John O'Connell, said Du Bois reiterated his confession and told them he had served one term at McNeil Island prison on a Dyer act charge, and two terms.

Morgenthau Is In London

London, Oct. 16.—(P)—Henry Morgenthau, Jr., United States secretary of the treasury, was disclosed today to have arrived by plane in Britain yesterday, the first United States cabinet member to come here since the start of the war.

Morgenthau visited the British treasury office today and held detailed discussions concerning British-American financial arrangements. He is expected to see Prime Minister Churchill and other members of the government later.

He established headquarters at the American embassy. Following his unheralded arrival he was guest of honor last night at a small dinner given by Sir Kingsley Wood, chancellor of the exchequer.

On his arrival, Morgenthau went to a London hotel and conferred with United States Ambassador John G. Winant.

One possible point expected from conferences with British officials would be "reciprocal aid," the reverse part of the lend-lease plan, under which Britain is giving the United States war supplies involving many millions of dollars in bookkeeping exchange.

The visit also was in line with the evident Washington policy of giving high American officials first-hand familiarity with the Axis. (Turn to Page Six)

UNOCCUPIED ZONE SCENE OF DISORDERS

Violence Increases as Nazis Exert Pressure to Get Workers to Go to Germany

COUNCIL IN SESSION

Bern, Switzerland, Oct. 16.—(P)—Violent disorders have broken out in the unoccupied zone of France as the Nazis increased their pressure to get French workers to go to Germany, dispatches to the Swiss press reported today.

Lyon, Chambery and Annecy were mentioned as trouble centers in a dispatch to the Tribune De Lausanne, which said that, while details were lacking, it "is known that violent outbreaks occurred and that public forces (whether police, gendarmes or army units was not specified) had to intervene, and that blood flowed."

This dispatch said there were unconfirmed reports "that bombs were thrown, that the public forces had used weapons, chiefly hand grenades, that railway stations and other strategic points were occupied by troops."

Vichy sources, however, said officials of the Laval government were minimizing the extent of the disorders and insisting that it was not yet known that bloodshed had occurred.

The outbreaks were said to have started when the Nazis posted in factories lists of workers who are asked to go to Germany. It was said they were not actually requisitioned, as has been done in Germany, but were asked to "volunteer."

(DNE, a dispatch dated Vichy, reported that the French ministerial council met this morning under the presidency of Chief of State Petain. It may have dealt with the disorders.)

The Lyon area in recent weeks had become a center of dissidence within the unoccupied zone of France. It is there that the long-time mayor and former president of the chamber of deputies, Edouard Herriot, has been placed under "home detention" as a result of his declarations against Vichy collaborationists.

The British radio said in a broadcast heard in New York by CBS that the Lyon trouble had. (Turn to Page Six)

500 Executed In Yugoslavia

London, Oct. 16.—(P)—Balkan sources said today that the Germans had executed about 500 Serbs charged with participation in a new insurrection against the Nazi conquerors of Yugoslavia and that occupation forces recently have been increased in the turbulent country.

These sources said they had been informed that the Germans discovered the supposed plot early this month and that the chief of the Nazi forces in Serbia, General Bader, set up special courts to try the patriots.

All who were accused were convicted and shot, one informant said. Other Balkan sources said anti-Rumania feeling was spreading also in Rumania because of the transfer to the Russian front of several additional divisions, which, they said, Rumania previously had been promised that she could keep at home to guard the country's frontiers.

Carbon Co. Has Slaying

Mauch Chunk, Oct. 16.—(P)—A 31-year-old man was shot to death in nearby Parryville last night while a jury was deliberating in another murder case in the Carbon county courthouse here.

Corporal Joseph P. McIlvane of the state motor police said the victim, Harry Neeb, of Lehighton, was felled by a blast from a shotgun fired by Ruben Moyer, 73, of Parryville.

Moyer was jailed on a murder charge.

The shooting, McIlvane said, climaxed an argument that developed after Moyer protested he was being kept awake by conversation between Mrs. Flite, 76, and four men companions who had accompanied him to Parryville.

As the shooting occurred, a jury in the courthouse here was deliberating on the fate of Charles J. Getz, 22-year-old hero of last May's flood-charged with killing his sweetheart.

Great Program Secured For Scrap Show At The Library

Manager George C. Sarvis, in cooperation with the Times-Mirror, has completed plans for the "Scrap Show" to be staged at the Library Theatre Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock, when each child or adult bringing five pounds or more of junk will be admitted free.

In other words, the price of admission for this special show is five pounds of "Scrap"—five pounds of odd pieces of iron, steel, etc., gathering dust in the cellars and attics of our homes, in the city parks, in offices and stores. Five pounds of this "Scrap" isn't much, but multiplied by millions it means guns and tanks, planes and shells for the men in the fighting forces.

A fine show has been secured for the event, featuring the sensational western film "Texas," starring William Holden and Glen Ford, plus a great program of shorts.

President Submits Analysis of Government War Spending

Expenditures In Fiscal Year Ending June 30, 1943, $74,000,000,000

MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

Washington, Oct. 16.—(P)—President Roosevelt told congress today that federal cash expenditures for war in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1943, now were estimated at $74,000,000,000 and non-war outlays at $4,194,000,000. In addition, interest on the public debt in this 12-month period was estimated at $1,850,000,000 to bring aggregate federal outlays for the current fiscal period to $80,044,000,000.

Non-war expenditures of the government, Mr. Roosevelt reported, have been cut more than a third from their 1939 peak.

The chief executive submitted a 96-page analysis of trends of non-war governmental spending which showed that from a peak of $6,516,000,000 in 1939 they had dropped 35.5 per cent. Those estimated for this year are nearly $1,000,000,000 under the figure for the last fiscal period. They compare with a low of $2,454,000,000 in 1933.

Covering Mr. Roosevelt's entire tenure in the White House, the report showed war expenditures had jumped upward from a low of $578,000,000 in 1934, passing the billion dollar mark for the first time in 1938. The total for the 1941 fiscal year was $6,301,000,000 and for the last fiscal year, subject to minor final adjustments, $26,011,000,000.

The report was prepared by the budget director, and Mr. Roosevelt said in an accompanying message to congress that it shows the "important reductions which have been made without sacrificing humanitarian considerations." He sent it to congress for its information, and made no request for any action.

Heavy Rains Raise Rivers

Pittsburgh, Oct. 16.—(P)—The Allegheny and Monongahela rivers rose slowly today in the wake of heavy rains, but Weather Observer W. S. Brotzman said there was no prospect of a flood in this area.

Johnstown, Oct. 16.—(P)—The $6,850,000 flood control project Uncle Sam has been building here since the disastrous St. Patrick's Day 1936 was credited today with keeping the waters of the tempestuous Stoney Creek from the low lying districts of Johnstown. (Turn to Page Six)

"Keys For Victory" Drive To Be Brought To Close Saturday

The Warren Business and Professional Women's Club reminds the citizens of Warren and vicinity that tomorrow, Saturday, is their last opportunity to "Be a Key Scout" and contribute to the salvage project which it has conducted this week under the banner of "Keys for Victory."

Keys have been coming in daily from many sources and today the drive is being given a helping hand by Girl Scouts and Brownies of the Warren County Council, who are staging a house to house canvass in an effort to secure every odd, unused key in the community. Miss Callie Mead, president of the club, announces today that a prize is to be offered the troop bringing in the greatest number of keys. At North Warren's Brownie Scouts have volunteered their cooperation and it is understood that other groups are collecting in various other county centers.

Collection boxes, bearing the "Be a Key Scout" posters, have been placed in many business establishments about town and, since a portion of these are also open on Saturday evening, rural shoppers are urged to bring along their keys and contribute to this drive.

Designed to salvage even the smallest amounts of metals vital to the war program, this key collection has proved very successful wherever tried out and it is hoped that by Saturday night the local boxes will be filled to overflowing.

Club officials state today it is hoped to display the collection in some central location before it is turned over to the salvage committee of the Warren County Defense Council next week.

GUADALCANAL FLYING FIELD JAPS' TARGET

Strengthened American And Enemy Forces Strive Desperately For Knockout Blows

FLEET IS IN OPERATION

BULLETIN

Washington, Oct. 16.—(P)—The Japanese have landed large reinforcements, with equipment, including artillery, on Guadalcanal island and are now shelling American positions on the island, the navy reported today. A large concentration of enemy ships also has been discovered near Shortland Island about 259 miles northwest of Guadalcanal, a navy communique said. In addition to the enemy naval units in the southeastern Solomon Islands, presence of American motor torpedo boats in the Solomons area was disclosed in a report that enemy warships shelling American positions on Guadalcanal the night of October 14-15 were attacked by these torpedo boats, which reported a probable torpedo hit on a Japanese cruiser.

BY JOHN H. WIGGINS

Washington, Oct. 16.—(P)—The struggle for control of the southwest Pacific sea-saved in thunderous spurts around the Solomon Islands today as strengthened American and Japanese forces strove desperately for knockout blows.

Stepped-up aerial and naval action throughout the whole battle-inflamed area bolstered likelihood that a showdown was near at hand for possession of the pivotal Guadalcanal island and its prized airbase captured more than two months ago by United States marines.

Within the last 24 hours, the navy reported last night, Japanese bombers have blasted at the flying field, following up an earlier bombardment from the sea by an enemy armada that included battleships, cruisers and destroyers.

FLASH FLOOD CAUSES POTOMAC TO OVERRUN

Washington, Oct. 16.—(P)—Flood waters of the Potomac river and tributaries, approaching an expected record depth, had claimed at least one life today.

Last night a flash flood churning down Cabin John branch swept John E. Buell, 31, an auto repair shop owner, of Bethesda, Md., to his death as he tried to hook a stalled automobile to his tow truck.

At low tide this morning the Potomac overflowed into East Potomac park and police warned that at high tide streets in both the Georgetown and southwestern sections of Washington likely would be flooded. Bladenburg, Md., police said water was five to six feet in parts of the community, with the high school closed.

Wavell Back After Tour Of Frontier

New Delhi, India, Oct. 16.—(P)—General Sir Archibald P. Wavell, commander-in-chief of India, returned today from a reconnaissance of the northeast frontier under circumstances accepted here as heralding possible action to retake Burma from the Japanese.

A brief formal communique issued here said: "His excellency the commander-in-chief has returned to headquarters in New Delhi after a four-day inspection of forward positions on the northeast frontier. During the visit General Wavell crossed the Burma frontier."

Reliable but unofficial sources indicated that Wavell gave a suggestion that an attack upon Burma could be expected.

Burma is one of the few land fronts where the Allies can hit the Axis directly and at the same time re-open the most accessible supply route to China.

British and American forces in India are restless. The soggy monsoon season has ended; good flying weather is at hand again.

MADE A RECORD

In the air raid alarm Wednesday the employees of the Metzger-Wright Company set a real record. Taken wholly by surprise the money and records of the firm were put away and locked up and the employees were in their raid stations in one and one-half minutes.

The survey made the company had planned to have this all accomplished in two minutes. In actual practice they bettered the time by one-half minute.

FINALLY AMBLED ON

The skunk which invaded the Kay-Miller Ice Cream factory office yesterday defied the efforts of Patrolman Parks and Evan to coax it out into the great outdoors. The cops tried all of their persuasive powers, but his skunkship merely looked disdainfully at them. Finally late in the afternoon the skunk tired of holding the fort and trotted out of the building much to the relief of the employees of the firm.

AN APPRECIATION

The management of the Metzger-Wright Company wishes to express thanks to its customers and for their cooperation during the surprise air raid drill Wednesday. All customers were in their proper safety zones, all wardens at their stations, all lights, except the safety lights, extinguished in exactly ninety seconds, according to W. H. Wright, vice president. The store air raid organization under the supervision of William Lord, chief air raid warden, hopes to cut this time to sixty seconds at the next alarm.

MARTIN
Somerset, Oct. 16.—(P)—Adjutant General Edward Martin, Republican candidate for governor, declared in a campaign address here that his trips throughout Pennsylvania have convinced him America's war effort is getting

"A trip around Pennsylvania into high gear. x x x is a capsule tour of the United States," said the former commander of the state's 28th Division. "As a military man, I have seen every type of training our soldiers are undergoing. I know what they need in the way of equipment and morale and I have visited the plants in Pennsylvania where these items are being turned out at increasingly fast tempo."

ROSS
Erie, Oct. 16.—(P)—Auditor General F. Clair Ross, Democratic candidate for governor, went to Butler for a court house rally tonight after an address here in which he attacked both state and national Republican policies.

"In Pennsylvania, the reactionaries control the Republican party," Ross said. "They have locked out all the liberal influences just as surely as Governor James locked out the liquor store clerks."

Discussing Pennsylvania congressmen, Ross lauded the Democrats and criticized the Republicans

by to prevent spread of the flames. Workers trained in fighting oil fires sprayed foamite on the flames which were extinguished by 6:15 a. m. Damage was negligible, according to J. B. Fisher, executive vice president. He said, "There definitely was no sabotage." Leakage of gas was advanced tentatively as the cause.

ROTARY SPEAKER
Rotarians meeting at the YMCA on Monday will be addressed by Dr. Garry Cleveland Myers, of Chicago, Ill., on the topic, "Dads Are Dads." Members of other service clubs have been invited to join Rotary Club members to hear him talk. Dr. Myers will also speak before school student groups on Monday and deliver a lecture in the First Methodist church during the evening.

Harry Summers presented the orchestra in several selections, very well received by the audience, and several students were heard in well played solos. Refreshments concluded the evening.

NEW LICENSE PLATES
The 1943 automobile license plate will be two inches square.

The design on the face will be on a keystone. The plate will be red with black figures. At the top will be the figures "43" and farther down will be 3-31-44; at the bottom the license number of the car. The figures will be less than 1/2 inch high. There is just one bolt hole. The small size of the plate is due to the necessity of saving metal. The plates are being made in the state penitentiary. A license similar to this is being used this year in West Virginia.

Warren Dragons Meet Powerful Nursery Team Tomorrow

Blue and White Anticipating Tough Battle; Bleech And D'Angelo In Starting Lineup

The Warren Dragons, bouncing back after the terrific beating given them last Saturday by the Jamestown Red and Green, takes on Franklin tomorrow with the hopes of turning back one more to make it six wins against two losses.

The Dragons will be intact in their starting lineup except for Cameron from all reports, with D'Angelo and Bleech recovering from their injuries of a week ago. Franklin has one of the strongest teams they have turned out in recent history and boasting a tricky passing attack plus clever formations should make going tougher for the locals than in past seasons. Coach Leidig has been giving the squad stiff workouts this week and is taking no chances of losing any of the remaining three contests.

According to reports from the Nursery seat two of the stronger players on the Franklin team who were missing from the lineup because of injuries, when Sharpville defeated Franklin last Saturday 12 to 7, will be at their accustomed places at quarterback and end tomorrow.

The Nursery eleven has lost some of its important games of this season, being taken by Sharpville's brilliant team by a sizeable score, but succeeded in holding a strong Grove City out fit to a 2-0 win and taking Meadville 7-6.

The Warren team will have Vee-jing at left end and due to the injury of Cameron, stellar right end of the variety, in Monday's practice session will have an unnamed replacement at that position. Imperial and Fredericks will be at tackle posts, Johnson and Seavy at guards and Shattuck at center. The remainder of the team will shape out with Bleech and Kifer at the half's, Dickerson at quarter, and D'Angelo at fullback.

The Warren band will be on tap to add to the already colorful set up with Harry Summers ready to put on some new formations with the aggregation, so when the whistle blows, football again will hold the spotlight in this city and a wonderful turnout is expected so we'll see you there.

The kickoff will be promptly at 2:30 o'clock.

Last Night's Bouts

Waterbury, Conn.—Ruby Garcia, 130, Puerto Rico, won by technical knockout from Willie Roach, 129, Wilmington, Del. (9).

Elizabeth, N. Y. Joe Carter, 158, Rome, N. Y., outpointed Lorenzo Strickland, 168, New York (6).

Jersey City—Tami Mauriello, 186, New York, knocked out Italo Colomello, 192, New York (2).

Philadelphia—Johnny Noco, 141½, Philadelphia, drew with Lou Warren, 142, Wilmington, Del. (8).

Covering The Sports Front!

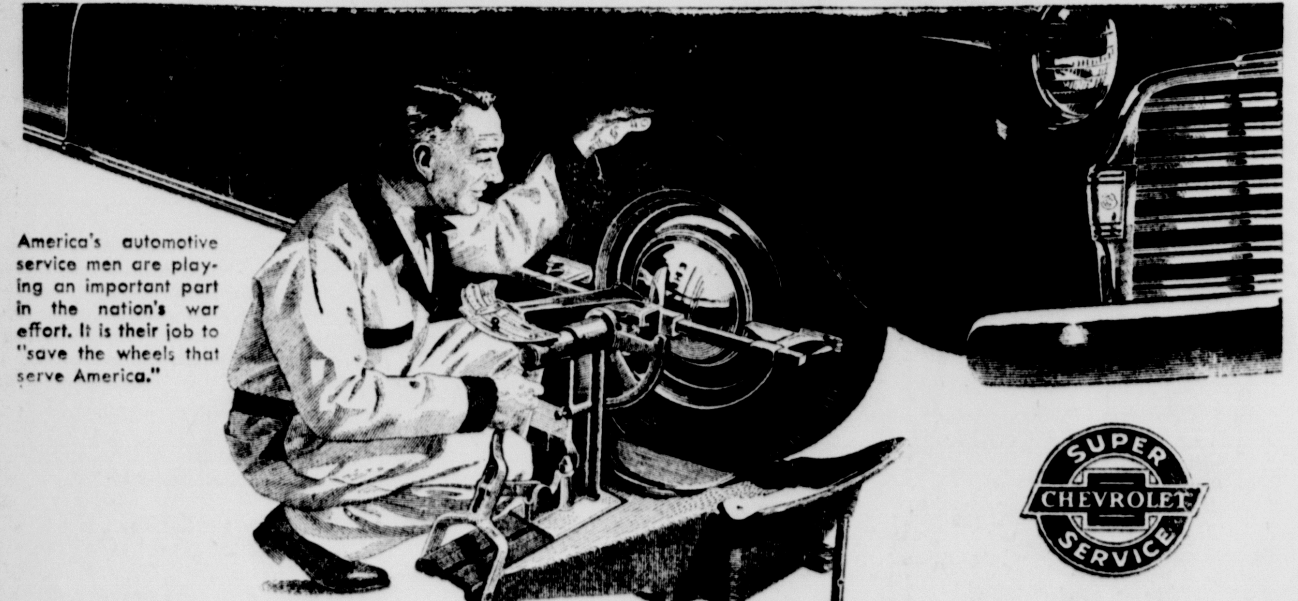

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

One reason why Ohio State is rated the No. 1 football team so far is that Paul Brown tells his boys to take a chance with running the ball instead of kicking when they have a foot or two to go on fourth down. And so far they've been getting away with it. . . . And Bernie Bierman, whose Minnesota teams seldom passed, has become air-minded since he shifted to the navy's Iowa pre-flight school. . . . The Seahawks have thrown 50 passes and completed 28 in four games. . . . Ezzard Charles, the Cincinnati high school kid who is rated one of the best middleweight fighters in the business, will take on Heavyweight Joey Maxim at Pittsburgh October 27. . . . When Little Pizen Lloyd Waner got back to Oklahoma, his father took him out golfing, and pop was so happy over a 103 score that he made Lloyd play an extra nine holes.

Today's Guest Star: Ed. Ray, Tampa (Fla.) Times: "The war has done one good thing for sports—eliminated the let's fire the coach clubs throughout the nation. . . . Monday conversation among the quarterbacks sounds about like this: 'Gee, I hope we didn't lose our coach before the end of the season. I don't know where we'd get another.'"

One Minute Sports Page: Princeton's 150-pound football squad had a turnout of 151 players this fall, so they were split up into eleven teams for intra-mural competition. The Tiger lightweights have had four undefeated seasons in five years. . . . Golfer Ben Hogan hasn't joined the army yet, but he'd like to get into either the army or navy aviation branch. He has had some flying experience. . . . It didn't help Frank Leahy's health much when he tried to listen to the Notre Dame-Stanford broadcast last Saturday. Another station kept breaking in with Minnesota-Illinois just when the Irish got into scoring position, and Frank was almost a wreck before he learned the result.

Par-A-Graph: Ken Alyta of the Waterbury (Conn.) Republican tells one about a golfer who sliced his tee shot into newly-mown rough. He played a provisional ball and decided to go on with it when he found it nicely set up on the cut grass while the first ball couldn't be located. . . . When he swung, two balls popped out of the grass. . . . His second shot had landed exactly on top of the first. . . . We don't doubt Ken's word, but it seems that those slices could be used for sandwich filling.

Again this year, Warren is represented on the football team at Edinboro State Teachers College. In his second season at Edinboro is Bill Dove, who received a varsity letter last season. His fellow teammate from Warren this year is Leon Culbertson who is in his freshman year at Edinboro. Both fellows are slated to play on Saturday, the 17th, when the Raiders tangle with the tutors from Clarion State Teachers College.

Major Hoople's Predictions

By MAJ. AMOS HOOPLE
Fate of Deception

Egad! Readers are writing in demanding to know what rule I follow in making my amazing football predictions. Heh heh! Evidently I have stirred the populace with some of my upsets!

(Ed. Note: The major is not referring to his own upsets en route home Saturday night.)

Well, would that I could disclose to one and all the uncanny system I employ! But this is war! Alas, we all must have secrets, military and civilian alike. Suffice it for me to say here that my system, whereby I have given you such form reversals as Pittsburgh over Southern Methodist, is built upon a solid foundation of deception!

My system is a bit different from the Statue of Liberty play, but nonetheless it works. Try it sometime when you come home in the wee small hours and find yourself confronted with sneaking past the little woman—hazurp!

This week's specials are four upsets by identical scores—Harvard 12, Dartmouth 7; Illinois 12, Iowa 7; Northwestern 12, Michigan 7; Ohio State 21, Purdue 6.

U.C.L.A. 12, Calif. 7.
So. Clara 13, Ore. State 7.
So. Calif. 13, Wash. S. 7.
Cornell 14, Penn State 6.
Tulane 14, Georgia 13.
Miss. St. 21, Van'hilt 20.
Wis. 13, Great Lakes 10.
Warren 13, Franklin 6.

Punts and Passes

By the Associated Press

West Point, N. Y.—Jim Keller, first string end from San Antonio, Tex., but out with an army injury, also is first captain of the corps of Cadets. It is the highest military honor a cadet can receive and was held in the past by such as General Wainwright, Pershing and MacArthur.

Pittsburgh—Duquesne, which was unbeaten, untied and uninvited to a Bowl game last fall, is even better this season. Duquesne invades North Carolina Saturday unbeaten, untied and unscored on.

Philadelphia—Penn's end coach, Paul Riblett, had himself a day of fun Thursday. He cast aside the cares of a coach and assumed the role of Bob Perina, Princeton's pass throwing halfback, and spent two hours tossing aerials and running the flanks.

Evanston, Ill.—Don Buffmire and Dud Kean, backs at Northwestern, have played on the same athletic teams since their grammar school days at Grand Rapids, Minn. They were both born within 48 hours of each other in neighboring homes and their mothers were high school and college classmates.

Denver, Oct. 16—(P.)—Bill Halford and John Herlevich of the Denver University football team, say they are too busy on the field to hear any cheers, but they suppose cheering is a good thing for the crowd. "It seems to keep up their spirits," they admit.

Tough Battle Is Expected At South Bend

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 16—(P.)—Having given Coach Bernie Bierman everything he has wanted in the way of victories this season, the Iowa Seahawks will fight for his first win over Notre Dame Saturday in what should be one of the liveliest passing parties of the year.

It will be the third time Bierman has sent a team against the Irish. His Minnesota boys were stopped 7 to 6 and 19 to 0 in 1937 and 1938—leaving Notre Dame the only major midwestern team the former Gopher coach has not conquered.

The Irish have accurate Angelo Bertelli who finished off Stanford 27 to 0 with four touchdown passes, boosting his completion record for the season from a mild .333 to .500. He has found the bulls-eye 24 times in 48 attempts for a gain of 383 yards.

The Seahawks' Dick Fisher, once of Ohio State, also is quite a marksman. He has completed 17 of 27 for 331 yards.

Notre Dame has averaged 127.7 yards per game through the air, which the Seahawks nearly match with 126.3.

A Promise for Tomorrow

Chapter 26
Strange Night

THE next few hours were the strangest Julie had ever experienced. Dawn, playing hostess, invited them to raid the kitchen and finish plans for the morning's fishing trip.

"I haven't the faintest idea what we'll find to eat," she chattered as they trailed after her down the long hall to the lean-to kitchen at the back. "Dad usually keeps some canned goods on hand and Arnold—Arnold—brought some fruit."

Julie pretended not to notice the correction, answered smoothly. "Looks as if we wouldn't starve," and smiling, pointed to the well-stocked shelves in the dark pantry. There was quite enough to last several people weeks.

And plenty of signs that the kitchen had been used frequently and recently. Someone, Julie decided as she perched on the scarred kitchen table, munched a sandwich, had been living here for some time. And more than one person.

All the rest of the afternoon as they wandered around the deserted grounds, Julie tried to put the puzzle together. Dawn and Arnold never left them for a moment. Kelland never appeared.

Dawn, growing steadily more worn, more drawn under the strain, chattered incessantly, laughed almost hysterically. Plans for the morning's fishing trip were laid carefully. The three men would leave shortly before daylight. It was to be Pete's special assignment to get Kelland aside long enough to have a talk with him, try to persuade him to reasonableness.

"Daddy admires you so, Pete," Dawn said as she bid them good-night. "He'll listen to you."

"Maybe, I'll do my best, anyway," Pete promised, patted her shoulder with clumsy tenderness.

What must Pete think of all this, Julie wondered. He'd been in love with Dawn herself. Perhaps he still was. It must be hurting, terribly.

Julie was to have a front bedroom.

"You're right across from me, darling," Dawn said, leading the way upstairs. "Nothing is very fancy—but you'll be comfortable."

Kelland, Julie decided must be in a third bedroom at the end of the hall. Pete was to share the fourth, and last room with Arnold. That was Dawn's—or Arnold's—plan, anyway. Pete upset it carelessly.

"Thanks, anyway. But I wouldn't think of disturbing you. Mount. Got my sleeping bag in the car and I'd much prefer stretching it under a tree, if you don't mind."

Visitor

ARNOLD did mind, pretty obviously, but there was nothing much he could do save offer to drive Pete back to the highway.

Julie heard them go with strange misgiving. Nothing could happen to Pete, of course. The man wouldn't murder him in cold blood. She tried to laugh at herself. Still, she was glad when, a few minutes later, she heard two cars return.

Slipping into the night Dawn had loaned her, Julie blew out the smoky kerosene lamp, tried to open the windows. Only one gave reluctantly under her pushing. The other two held fast. Their locks, she discovered, nailed shut.

Funny.

She slipped into the creaking bed, gazed for the chance to relax and think a way through the tangled maze of the day's happenings. But the thinking didn't last long. Her exhausted young body demanded—and got, sleep.

How long she'd been asleep she didn't know. But something awakened her. She sat bolt upright, her heart pounding, unable to think for the moment where she was or what had happened. Another sound. And she realized that there was someone in her room.

"Don't be alarmed, Julie. It's Dawn!"—a faint whisper, from a ghost-white figure moving gropingly across the room toward the bed.

"Heavens, you startled me!" Julie let go her breath.

"Sh! They'll hear us." Dawn fumbled for the edge of the blankets. "Let me in. I must talk to you."

Her words scarcely audible, Dawn slipped quickly into the big bed beside Julie, lay shivering violently although the night was warm.

Julie's arm went around her instantly. "What's the matter, Dawn?"

"You must get out of here. Quick. Get Pete to go too. You are both in danger."

Julie tensed. "But of what? Why, Dawn?"

"I can't explain. Just go. Now. Tomorrow will be too late."

"Why can't you explain?" Dawn shook her head. Against her cheek, Julie felt tears, felt Dawn's tiny form convulse with sobbing.

When she could control herself again, Dawn whispered, "Pete won't come back alive from that fishing trip. Now—please. Go while you still have time."

Held In A Vise

JULIE shook her head. "Not until you tell me what this is all about."

"I can't, Julie. I can't. Just be terribly careful. He has spies everywhere. If you get to your car, drive fast. Take the left fork after the bridge, double back along the river. He won't know the roads well enough to follow you if you get any head start at all."

"Why should he want to follow us?"

"He knows you suspect something. He can't afford to let you go."

Julie took a plunge in the dark. "Arnold is an enemy agent, isn't he, Dawn?"

The girl stiffened, lay perfectly quiet. "How did you know?"

"And this isn't an elopement, is it? You despise him. You think he has some hold on you Dawn. Don't you?"

No response save a dry sob.

"You know that he is responsible for that awful forest fire that cost you most of the good timber on your place. You knew that the fire served as a beacon for a submarine. That an American tanker and twelve seamen went down because of it?"

Julie waited. After a moment, a faint, "Yes—I know."

"All right. Tell me all about it."

The story came piecemeal, disconnected, almost incoherent at times. But Julie managed to put it together until the whole picture came gradually into focus.

"His name is really Arnaldo de Monteford," Dawn said. "I met him in Cannes last year. I was abroad. I thought he was a marquis. That I would be a marchesa. So I married him."

Julie nodded, waited for her to go on. "He had no title. He belonged to some political party. Always schemes—intrigues. I hated him. He only wanted me for a blind."

Footsteps sounded somewhere at the back of the house. The door from the kitchen slammed shut. A man came heavily up the stairs.

"Oh, Julie! If he finds me out of my room! It will be too late then!"

Julie felt her own heart stop as the footsteps approached the door, slowed, stopped, and then went on.

Minutes later, Dawn whispered, "I hate him. I despise him. I'm afraid of him, Julie."

"But why? He has no right to—"

Dawn shook her head. "He has our child."

"Child?" Julie gasped.

"A little girl. When I left Italy I thought my plan was perfect that I could trust the servant who was to bring Elita to me. Arnaldo found out about it. Elita's safety is the sword he hangs over my head."

RULES LISTED FOR TIRE INSPECTIONS

Washington, Oct. 16.—(P)—Motorists with tires not "legally acquired" will lose their gasoline ration books, the Office of Price Administration disclosed today in announcing details of a nationwide program for periodic inspection of tires.

The five tires listed by the motorist by serial number in connection with rationing, plus tires acquired through rationing certificates, will be the only "legal" tires.

OPA said the periodic inspection program was designed as a check against illegal use or sales of casings, as well as to keep tires in good repair.

First inspection for all passenger car tires must be made between December 1 and January 31, 1943, with commercial vehicle inspection starting November 15.

Study Expansion Of Rationing Program

Washington, Oct. 16.—(P)—Growing scarcities in more commodities hastened development today of preparation for additional rationing program and an expansion of the Office of Price Administration to take care of them.
